REPORT

The certificate course on Telegnosis, organized by Dharohar-CIKS-GTU and coordinated by Mr. Himanshuray Raval, during January to March 2023 and was worth 2 credits, in which 17 participants took part and enriched their knowledge.

The course focused on the diagnosis based on Ayurveda and Astrology. It aimed to provide participants with knowledge and skills in Telegnosis, which is a method of diagnosis combining principles from Ayurveda and Astrology.

Mr. Himanshuray Raval, the coordinator of the course, ensured that all lectures were conducted as per the schedule without any breaks. The level of participation in each online lecture was reported to be very high.

The key lectures were delivered by Mr. Himanshuray Raval himself. Additionally, experts in the field were invited to provide their insights and knowledge. These experts included Padma Shri Dr. Sudhir Shah, Ms. Shikha Sharma, Shri Pinakin Raval, Mukesh Parekh, and Dr. Suneel Pandey. They shared their expertise on various aspects relevant to Telegnosis, aiming to help participants achieve perfection in the subject.

The course covered eight styles of foretelling, which are derived from Indian Knowledge Systems. The lectures were conducted in simple Hindi language, and demonstrations were occasionally organized to enhance the learning experience.

To ensure that participants had access to the lecture materials, video recordings, and PowerPoint presentations of each session were emailed to them on the same day. These materials were also shared with GTU (presumably Gujarat Technological University), indicating the importance of documentation and record-keeping.

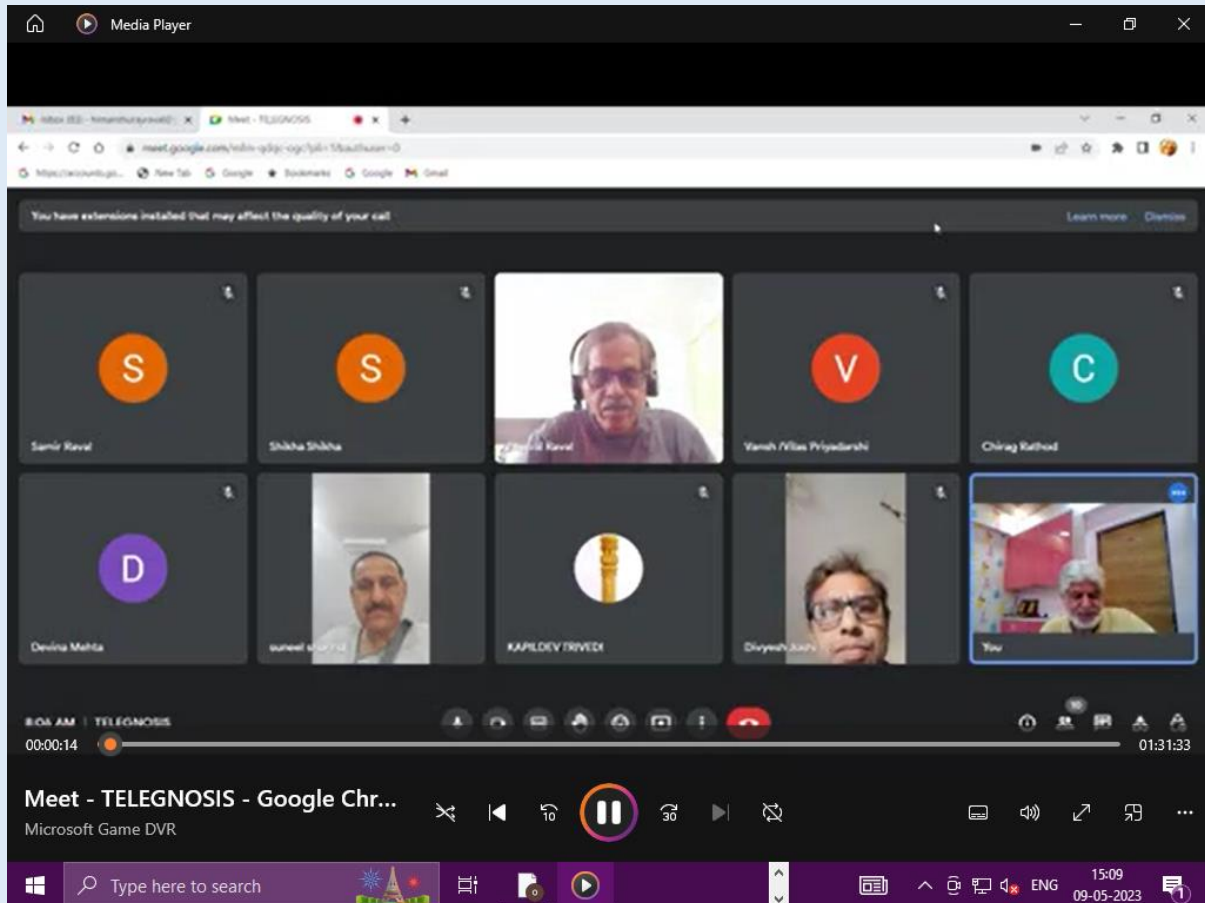

On the last day of the course, Dr. Saurabh Chokshi, a renowned Cardiologist from Florida, addressed the participants. He presented a 20-minute video report sharing his own experience with Telegnosis during the past year. This likely provided valuable insights and real-world applications of the subject.

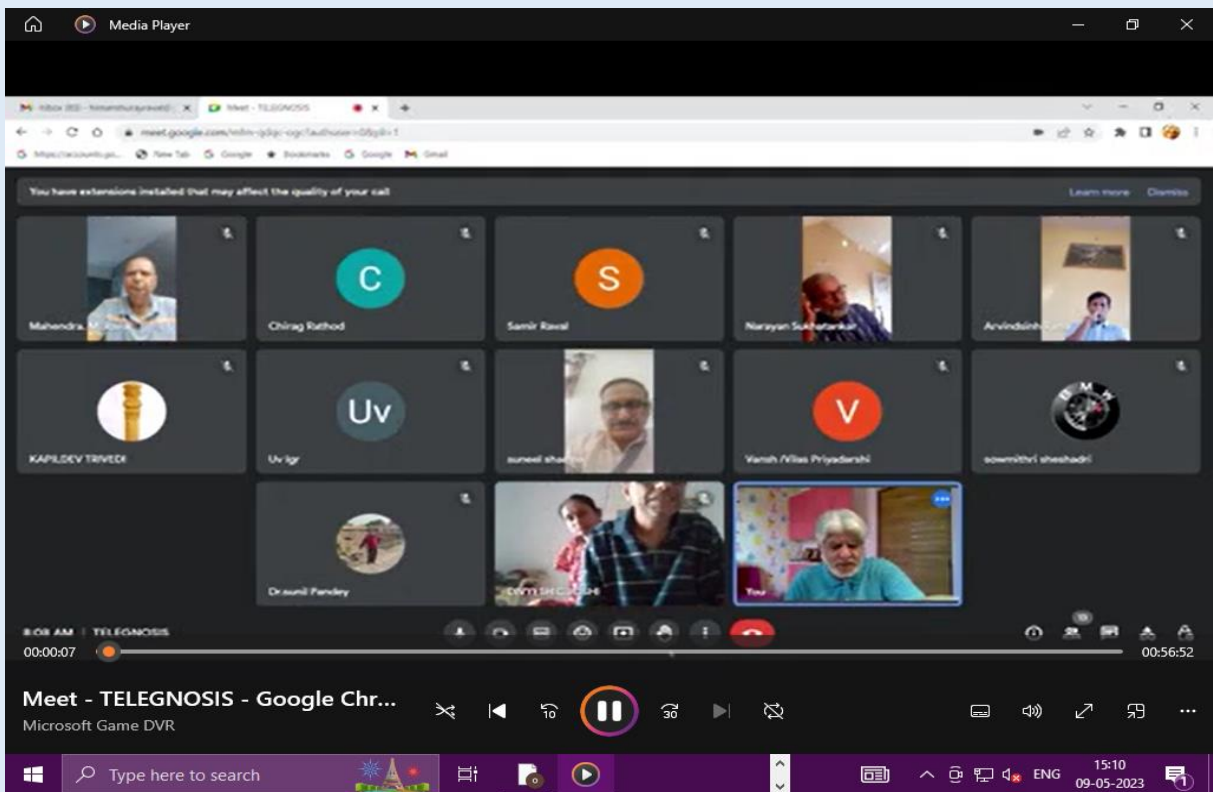

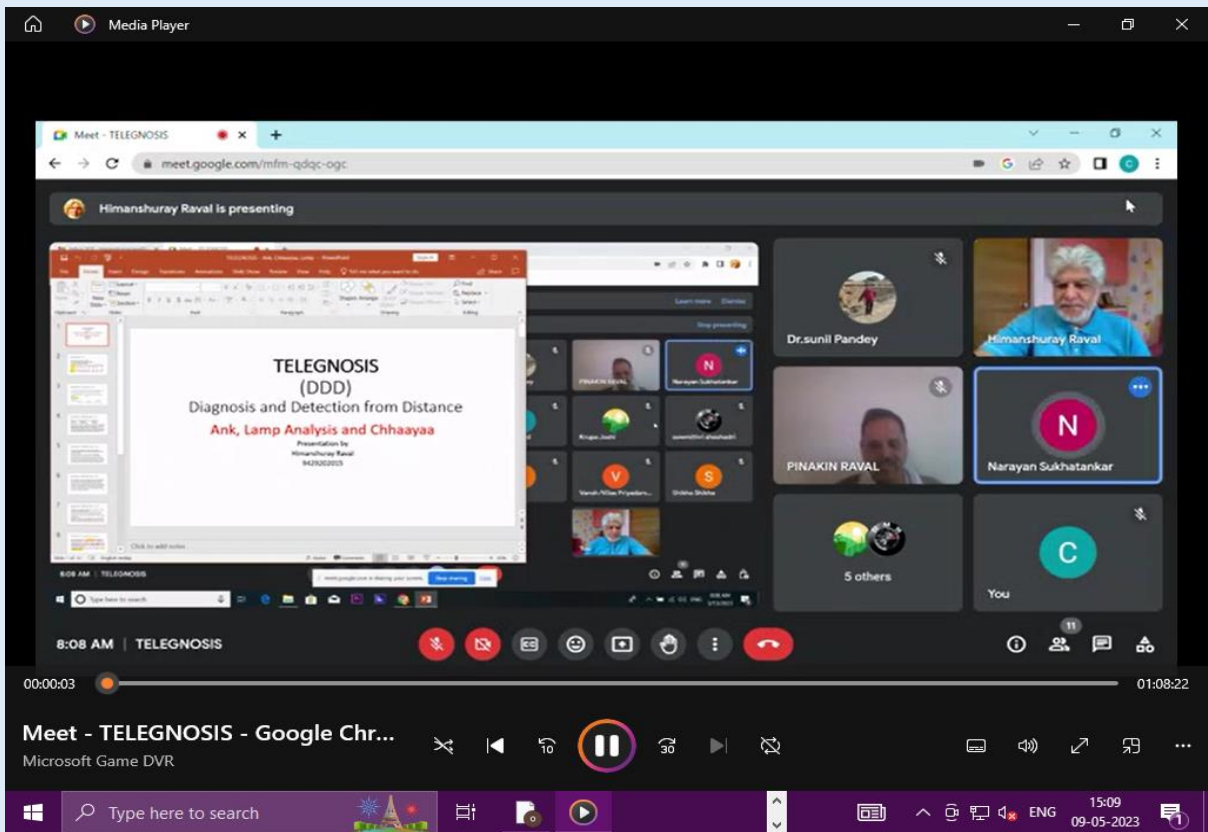

Overall, the certificate course on Telegnosis appears to have been well-structured and engaging, with active participation from the students and valuable contributions from experts in the field.
